

Disclaimer

Science Movement is a philanthropic activity of Subhadra Charitable Trust and this website is dedicated towards that. The information provided on this website is essentially non-commercial and non-individualistic without any political or other affiliations of controversy. While our website(s) provide(s) information about our own activities, announcements, and achievements; and we take care for the authenticity of the same, we are however not responsible for any misleading or otherwise objectionable or legally challengeable information provided by some third party linked through this website, and user's discretion is therefore requested while using such third party information not provided by us directly.